

Annapolis Royal Historic Garden: Rose Beds and Rose Plants Project

By: Katie Chute Date: December 15, 2015

Legend

- Paths_Updated
- Roses
- Rose_Gardens

This was the output from the work term in the spring of 2015.
I had to take a hand drawn map and make it digital.

For this project there were several trips to the Gardens made.
The trips were to get measurements and also make sure the list that was given to the school was update to date, which it was not. So, I had to go around and write down the name of each plant, how many plants where there with the same name, and I also had to write them in the correct order so it was easy to follow when it came to looking at it on a map compared to real life.